ERENALP TEKŞEN

I am a candidate engineer who is always eager to learn new things in all fields, enjoys meeting new people and communicating with them, and is always open to learning and innovation. I am developing myself in both backend and frontend areas. I have a determined and persevering nature, and I take great care in every task I undertake. Also I am confident in my ability to work well in a team, communicate effectively with my colleagues and exchange ideas.
